

Circulogene Africa | March 2018

Circulogene is a global leader in the development of liquid biopsy solutions for high-sensitivity cancer detection.

Marlow has acquired a significant shareholding in Circulogene Africa, and is proud to leverage next generation sequencing technology and recent advances in bioinformatics to bring non-invasive and cost-effective solutions for the detection, monitoring and treatment of cancer to Africa.

