Glint Pay | November 2016

Marlow led a £2.75 million financing for a financial technology company.

Glint Pay is a fintech business that allows its users to buy, sell and store gold seamlessly through an electronic payment platform. GlintPay uses real-time market prices to allow any individual or business to use gold as a real currency in any financial transaction. Using a digital wallet loaded onto a smartphone and/or a debit card, wherever MasterCard is accepted, transactions can be completed with gold as a currency 24 hours a day, securely, conveniently and cost-effectively.
